Crawfordsville Community Schools Presents – ART-itecture

The entire Art Department – K through 12 – of Crawfordsville Community School Corporation will be having an exhibition of student artwork at the Carnegie Museum during the month of November. The theme of the show is "ART-itecture". There will be a wide variety of student work showing many different ways of using architecture in art. The art teachers of students at all grade levels are busy helping students create art using a wide variety of media - from drawing to clay to photography and beyond. The opening for the show is scheduled for Monday, November 8th from 5 p.m. until 6:30 – which is right before the Crawfordsville school board meeting that night at 7 p.m. The show will run through the month of November.

Art and Architecture at the Carnegie Museum this Fall!

Not only will the school district art show take place in November but selections from the Hoosier Salon will open October 28th and the Carnegie Museum's own artist in residence C. Kent Rushing has been making great strides in his mural featuring architectural details from around Montgomery County. Visit the museum and see if you can identify the different locations featured in the mural.

BRICKS: Montgomery County Building Blocks

Exhibit created by Tuttle Middle School students

September 15 to December 30, 2010

In collaboration with Tuttle Middle School, the Carnegie Museum presents Bricks! Montgomery County Building Blocks, an exhibition about bricks and local brick making. Both Montgomery County and west Central Indiana have a rich history of brick making and this exhibit seeks to document and present this history in an approachable format for all ages. Topics covered include the history of bricks in general, the types of bricks, steps to making bricks and photos and stories of people who worked in some of the local companies. View bricks from many different companies, a brick mold, and design your own bricks. All ages will enjoy!

New Book to be released in January, 2011.
Crawfordsville, founded in the early 1820s, has a diverse history for a small town located in rural, west-central Indiana. The town was the site of an important land office, which attracted many settlers, as well as speculators, to the area. Crawfordsville became known for its intellectual and progressive atmosphere and earned the nickname of the "Athens of Indiana," especially for the numerous residents with literary accomplishments. Wabash College was established in Crawfordsville in 1832, and the institution's teachers and students have contributed greatly to the development of the town's culture and prestige. In addition to its authors and poets, Crawfordsville has had its share of musicians, artists, soldiers, and statesmen who have played a role far beyond the borders of Montgomery County, of which Crawfordsville is the seat. Images of America: Crawfordsville is a photographic tour of the people and places that have marked this town from its early days. Some 200 historical images capture the town's development, along with its interesting, and often unique, accomplishments.
